

Wadia Mausoleum

The thing that makes this mausoleum striking is that it is raised on a very tall stepped base with a projecting flight of steps leading up to the entrance. Apart from this, however, the structure is identical to that of the Dorabji Tata mausoleum, except that it has a plain metal sheet door and lacks any bronze or ceramic decoration.

Brookwood Cemetery
Glades House
Cemetery Pales
Brookwood
Surrey
GU24 0BL
Scan for Google Maps Link

Architects

Not known

Year Built

1900

Style

--

Listing

--

Condition

Good (2006)

History

The Hon Nowrosji Nashirwanji Wadia (1849-1899) was educated in England and gained his engineering experience in Lancashire. He then used this knowledge to develop the cotton industry in Bombay where he owned several mills. He died at Bournemouth. Also in the mausoleum are his two sons, Sir Cusrow Wadia and Sir Ness Nowrosji Wadia, together with Sir Ness's wife, Lady Evelyn Clara Wadia.

Sources

Notes compiled by Ian Simpson on burials in Brookwood Cemetery provided August 2007

Online Links

Brookwood Cemetery website

Photos

Location

SatNav Co-ordinates: 51.2996249247, -0.6315670655